

ARBUCKLE CASE ROUSES CALIFORNIA'S WOMEN VIGILANTS

ence should not weigh either for or against a man, and they shall not. In a nutshell, there is too much money in sight.

"I am convinced that Miss Prevon committed perjury, but whether we shall arrest her on that charge has not yet been determined. We intend to take the most drastic action in the case. We are keenly interested in finding out what sinister influence caused her to change her testimony. When she was called early last evening before the Grand Jury she refused to sign another formal statement regarding her allegations that Arbuckle had injured Miss Rappe, and told a different and highly unsatisfactory story.

"The testimony of Dr. Runwell, one of the physicians who attended Miss Rappe, was also highly unsatisfactory."

It was announced that the Grand Jury would reconvene whenever Mr. Brady gave notice that he had additional evidence to submit to it.

The coroner's inquest into the death of Miss Rappe was resumed to-day at 10 o'clock, independently of the grand jury investigation. It is thought that this inquest will last for several days and it has become plain that Arbuckle's attorneys are hopeful of a favorable verdict from the coroner's jury and that this, taken with grand jury's failure to indict, will materially strengthen their case.

ARBUCKLE'S DEFENSE TO REST UPON FIVE POINTS.

The nature of the defense that Arbuckle's counsel will introduce was disclosed to-day. It will be based mainly upon five contentions.

1. That Arbuckle did not criminally attack Miss Rappe.
2. That he did not take her into his bedroom against her will.
3. That whatever occurred in the bedroom was with her consent and without force or violence of any kind.
4. That no action of Arbuckle's caused the internal injuries which resulted in Miss Rappe's death.
5. That her death was due to improper diagnosis of her illness or to improper medical treatment.

District Attorney Brady to-day charged that Mrs. Sid Wirt Spreckels, widow of John D. Spreckels, recently arrived from Paris, had given Dr. Runwell and Dr. William Ophuls permission to perform the unofficial autopsy on Miss Rappe's body. This was emphatically denied by Mrs. Spreckels, who said that she did not even know what an autopsy was.

One of the witnesses before the coroner's jury was H. J. Boyle, Assistant Manager of the St. Francis Hotel, where Arbuckle's "party" was held. He said he was called to Arbuckle's rooms that afternoon and that he found Arbuckle trying to carry Miss Rappe to another room. She was naked to the waist, he added. Arbuckle said at that time, "Hell, she's heavy! Somebody take her. I'll drop her if you don't."

Dr. Olaf Klarsow testified that he had been called to Arbuckle's rooms and that the film star had said to him, in reference to Miss Rappe, "This woman has had too much party—too much booze." The physician said he examined her body as far as the waist and found no marks upon her.

Dr. Runwell stated to the jury that he believed Miss Rappe's death to have been due to the bursting of a sac of pus in the abdomen. "While I was in the room," he added, "Mrs. Delmont failed to mention any screams or scuffles. She never told me that Arbuckle and the girl had gone into another room."

Even should the grand jury eventually refuse to bring an indictment against Arbuckle, he can be tried upon the complaint of murder sworn to by Mrs. Maude Delmont, who was a member of the party entertained in Arbuckle's rooms, where the alleged assault upon Miss Rappe occurred as the climax to a drinking bout.

There was a crowd about the doors of the grand jury room throughout the six hours of its session. Many of those who waited to hear the fate of "Fatty" Arbuckle were recognized as well-known movie stars, a number of them women.

When Arbuckle suddenly appeared in the corridor, under escort of two guards, and was escorted to the jury room, there was a quick surge of the crowd to get a glimpse of him. He was unsmiling, quite blank of expression as he came down from his cell, and there was ample token in his manner of the nervous strain he is undergoing.

Arbuckle was called before the grand jury a little while before its adjournment at 11 o'clock this morning. He had been waiting on the edge of his cot in his cell above the jury room. Arbuckle was in the jury room just two minutes. He refused to utter a word.

The first witness called by the grand jury was Mrs. Delmont and she remained in the witness chair for more than an hour, being recalled later for a further session of fifteen minutes. Her testimony is said to have dealt with what Miss Rappe told her of what happened when Arbuckle carried her into his room and locked her in.

Another witness was Al Semmacher, Miss Rappe's manager, in whose possession the young girl's torn underclothing was found after his return to Los Angeles.

Arbuckle is reported to be worth be-between $500,000 and $1,000,000 and already, at the outset, his fight for life and liberty shows promise of becoming one of the most bitterly contested legal battles in the history of California.

Four of the most widely known criminal lawyers on the Pacific Coast thus far are entered as attorneys of record for the defense. Frank Dominguez, long associated with Earl Rogers, Thomas P. White and Milton Cohen, all of Los Angeles, and Charles H. Brennan of San Francisco, will put their knowledge and experience against that of District Attorney Matthew Brady and his assistants. Legal skirmishes already have appeared, with honors even at present, on Federal Agents Start Inquiry.

Federal agents have taken a hand in the inquiry in an effort to learn where the liquor in Arbuckle's rooms came from. Thomas J. Coleman, manager of the Hotel St. Francis, and his assistant, Thomas Keating, were summoned to appear at the office of Prohibition Director Thomas A. Brown. No member of the Arbuckle party had a permit to transport liquor.

With the three-sided investigation going on, the attitude of the defense since Arbuckle made his statement that at no time was he alone in a room with Miss Rappe was broken for the first time at the inquest by Frank P. Dominguez of Los Angeles, who is directing Arbuckle's defense. The prosecutor asked a postponement of the inquest until after the grand jury met.

"We want the full facts placed before the people, and we want it done to-day at this inquest," said Dominguez.

The prosecutor returned that the silence of Arbuckle and his attorneys was not contributing to his efforts to bring out the facts.

There was a sensation during the arraignment when Mrs. Delmont declared that Miss Rappe walked into a trap which cost her her life, without suspecting that Arbuckle was to be the host.

"She didn't know that Arbuckle was in that apartment when she went there," said Mrs. Delmont, who was prevented from saying more by detectives in whose custody she was all day.

Mrs. Delmont became hysterical on the way to the Bond and Warrant Clerk's office. She caught Capt. Duncan Matheson by the sleeve.

"Oh, please don't make me face Arbuckle," she moaned. "I don't ever want to lay eyes on him again."

Then she controlled herself and gave the first hint of her determination to go through with the matter. "If I must do it, I will," she said.

"I will try to nerve myself for the task, but it will be terrible."

Following Arbuckle's arraignment he was photographed by the police and his Bertillon record was made, as follows: Weight, 266 pounds; height, 5 feet 5 inches; age, thirty-four years; actor, born in Kansas; hair medium chestnut, complexion ruddy, eyes blue; marks, scar at root of nose and on fourth finger of right hand.

BAN PLACED ON ARBUCKLE'S FILMS IN MANY CITIES.

His Feature Pictures Are Withdrawn from Theatres in Many Cities.

From all over the country to-day came announcements of a ban on "Fatty" Arbuckle features, the withdrawal in some cases by managers of moving picture theatres, in others by censors.

Theatre managers in this city, however, not waiting for advice from any one, voluntarily cut the Arbuckle films from their list of productions. Arbuckle will stop no more eastward trips with his face in the sixteen theatres under the control of the city of Philadelphia, and at the score of theatres under the Proctor banner in outlying districts, until his case is definitely settled in his favor. Otherwise, these theatres will never exhibit any of Arbuckle's pictures again.

In Philadelphia Mayor Moore last night instructed Director Cortelyou of the Department of Public Safety to prohibit the showing of Arbuckle films in Philadelphia. "Fatty" Arbuckle films were withdrawn from all Chicago motion picture houses yesterday. Chief of Police Fitzgerald said that while no official action had been taken by the Chicago Board of Censors, of which he is the head, he had been advised by exhibitors all over the city that they had withdrawn Arbuckle films.

The Allied Amusement Association, the Motion Picture Trade Association, with headquarters in Chicago, was making efforts to get the city to prohibit the showing of Arbuckle films in Chicago.

Members of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' Association of Southern California in Los Angeles adopted a resolution favoring the withdrawal, until the charges against him were disproved, of all films in which the name of Arbuckle was featured.

Norfolk, Va., has banned Arbuckle pictures.

Fireman Dies From Injuries Received Going to Fire.

Fireman Thomas Behan of No. 12 Grove Street, attached to Hook and Ladder Company No. 21 at No. 432 West 14th Street, died at Bellevue Hospital to-day of injuries he received when thrown from the apparatus at 8th Street and Sixth Avenue, Aug. 25, when responding to a fire at 8th Street and Madison Avenue.

FRISCO WOMEN TO TAKE HAND IN ARBUCKLE CASE

Vigilant Committee, Aroused by Tragedy, to Hold Special Meeting To-Morrow.

FILM COLONY STUNNED.

"Fatty's" Predicament Pointed To as Expected Sequel to Open Orgies.

(Special to The Evening World.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Women of this city purpose to take a hand in the Arbuckle case. The Women's Vigilant Committee, actively interested in law enforcement, will consider the matter at a special meeting to-morrow morning. This organization took an active part in the prosecution of the Howard Street dancers last year.

Mrs. Robert A. Dean, member of the Executive Board of the organization and former California Chairman of the National American Women's Suffrage Association, commenting to-day on the tragedy, said:

"The whole American standard of life is being poisoned by the questionable movie stories played by hoodlum men and women. It is impossible for some so-called stars to depict on the screen clean manhood and womanhood when they lead semi-private immoral lives. There are undoubtedly good men and women appearing on the movie stage, but the lack of a moral standard, as well as that good breeding which has characterized American life in the past, reaches out from the screen and poisons both the young people and the old of this country to-day."

Arbuckle's predicament is engendering intense interest here as well as in the southern part of the State, where he has lived. The erstwhile comedian owns one of the most prestigious homes in Los Angeles. About a year ago he bought the former Randolph Huntington Minor residence in West Adams Street, for which he is said to have paid up to $100,000. He early developed a decided penchant for fine automobiles, specially built to accommodate the huge bulk of the actor, and costing $25,000 each. His salary with Paramount nets him $5,000 a week, and he is financially credited with being worth $500,000 to $1,000,000.

ARBUCKLE CRAVED GOOD TIME FOR SELF AND OTHERS.

In the great colony of widely known screen actors and motion picture producers here and in Los Angeles comment on the charges against Arbuckle for the most part is withheld. Many leaders of the motion picture industry, however, referred to "Fatty's" misdeeds as a "good time" and his inimitable love of a good time. His well known desire to appear funny at all times, whether in pictures or in private life, they assert, has cost him a vast amount of money and caused him to be one of the most talked of stars. All agree Arbuckle's desire to have a good time himself was second only to his wish to have as many others as possible enjoy themselves with him.

"The party's the thing" is said to have been his watchword. He gave parties galore in Los Angeles, San Diego, Vera Cruz, San Francisco and other parts of the State. There were banquets, teas, breakfasts, motor parties and lawn fetes without number. Nothing was too good for him to attempt. He is reputed to have an enormous stock of fine wines and liquors.

Arbuckle was married several years ago to Minta Durfee, an actress from whom he became estranged. In the last few years he has at one time or another driven virtually every make of automobile and frequently has been arrested for speeding in the southern part of the State.

Arbuckle was wont to be the centre of attraction wherever he appeared. He liked it. Yesterday he was more than ever the centre of attraction, but he tried to avoid it. When ordered to court to plead he begged not to be taken in before the room jammed with men and women, drawn there by curiosity. His request was denied. He said his wish to evade the battery of cameras leveled at him, but without success.

In Los Angeles persons not in the movie industry said "I told you so" when they heard of Miss Rappe's tragic death and Arbuckle's predicament.

So many stories and rumors, substantiated or not, of wild orgies in the film colony have been retailed daily that the Arbuckle case is generally classed as "only one more movie outrage."

The movie industry and the homes and studios of those connected with it are largely confined to the Hollywood section of the city. When those who lived in it put on "parties" the objective points are usually a number of cafes and hotels which have made it a practice to cater to the supposed long purses of the actors, actresses and their hangers-on.

The more violent orgies have been generally reserved for private houses. Liquor is free as air in most cases, as usual under the Prohibition schedule here, flows fast and furiously.

Many times neighbors have had to telephone the police, and the parties have been temporarily broken up, but that apparently has been no deterrent. The mild entertainments at the cafes which bid for the film trade have been more restricted, but the spectacle of drunken people, rough dancing and table visiting is so common that respectable persons do not patronize the "Jazz Palaces."

For several years the motion picture industry has been a bone of contention. The business community supported it—for it brought the city millions of dollars annually. The

DOCTOR TRICKED IN HEART BALM SUIT, IS CHARGE

Lawyer Says Physician Did Not Know Case Was Up Till He Read of Award.

Dr. John Arena, physician and surgeon of No. 2156 Bathgate Avenue, the Bronx, a Captain in the Medical Corps during the World War, to-day obtained from Justice Martin in the Bronx permission to stay all proceedings in a $50,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Jennie Frascati. Miss Frascati on Sept. 1 last obtained from a Sheriff's jury damages of $25,000 against the doctor.

Thomas C. McDonald, attorney for Dr. Arena, said in court that the case was one of the boldest attempts at blackmail that had ever come to his notice. He said that Dr. Arena in the latter part of April was served with a summons in the breach of promise suit, that he immediately consulted with Rudolph M. Newman, one of Miss Frascati's attorneys, and denied the charges made by Miss Frascati. He told Newman that it was a case of blackmail and that there was not a word of truth in the complaint.

Newman, according to McDonald, told Dr. Arena not to worry, and invited Dr. Arena out for refreshments. The lawyer and the doctor rode about in a taxi and discussed the case. When they parted Newman again said to the doctor that he would not let before any action was taken Newman would communicate with the defendant. But five months later Dr. Arena saw an article in a Bronx paper telling of the jury's verdict against him, the lawyer said.

The complaint of Miss Frascati alleges that Dr. Arena in 1915 promised to marry her and later refused. Dr. Arena in his answer makes a general denial of all the charges.

Two Discharged in Alleged Assault Case.

William G. Elliott of No. 565 West 23d Street, a truckman, who was charged with felonious assault, and Sidney Abbott of No. 177 Woodlawn Avenue, a machinist, who was charged with acting in concert when arrested last Saturday in connection with an attempt to shoot the proprietor of a restaurant at No. 1567 Second Avenue, were today discharged by Magistrate Marsh in Harlem Court for lack of evidence.

Fire Put Fifth Avenue in Snarl.

Traffic was impeded in the vicinity of 48th Street and Fifth Avenue at about 10 o'clock this morning by crowds and fire apparatus that gathered about the Grillon Restaurant, at No. 16 East 48th Street. The blaze was confined to the kitchen and the damage was small, but smoke rose to fashionable parlors above, and Miss Agnes Ott, the telephone operator, was busy for a few minutes reassuring tenants.

Body of A. E. F. Soldier Arrives.

The body of William J. Bleasing of the 11th Infantry, 28th Division, killed in action on Oct. 13, 1918, during a machine gun attack on Hill No. 344, near Meusefontain, arrived to-day on board the Centurion of the United States Army service. Funeral arrangements are being made by the Richard J. McNally Post of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the 71st Regiment of State Guards.

Father and Son Held as Hold-Up Men.

John Heulth and his sixteen-year-old son, Clifford, of No. 45 Washington Street, Flushing, L. I., charged with carrying concealed weapons, were identified yesterday in Mineola, according to Ferdinand Miller, a county detective of Nassau, as the men who held up and robbed William Bullock of No. 417 Second Avenue, Astoria, on Aug. 29, when he was carrying $1,000 in cash. He also identified them as hold-up men who stopped him.

QUEBEC GOES WET BY BIG MAJORITY

Had Been Dry—Voters Adopt Plan of Having Government Vandal Liquors.

QUEBEC, Sept. 13.—The City of Quebec voted itself wet by an overwhelming majority, estimated early to-day at 12,000. The effect of the voting will be to repeal the existing local option law and place the city under the provincial liquor statute whereby the Government vends intoxicants in its own dispensaries.

The provincial statute has been in effect since May 1 last, but the City of Quebec had gone dry previously under the so-called Scott Act, or Dominion of Canada Local Option Law.

and opened, and three thousands voted for the Scott Act, which would have kept the city dry. The vote was 12,000 for the Scott Act, 10,000 for the provincial statute, and 1,000 for the Dominion of Canada Local Option Law.
